Envirothon Program

“Accept a Natural Challenge!”

The North American Envirothon began in Pennsylvania in the spring of 1979. Since then, it has spread to 49 states and provinces. Montana sent a pilot team to the 1995 North American Envirothon Competition in Idaho and held its first state competition in 1996. High school teachers and youth leaders across the country are recognizing the value of the Envirothon as a means of strengthening the environmental awareness of young women and men. The 2013 North American Envirothon was held in Montana!

The Envirothon experience is a unique educational approach to natural resource and environmental issues. Five-member teams compete in a setting where they learn that cooperation is needed to achieve success. Participation in this unique competition can be great fun for both students and their advisors. The activities are designed to help the students become environmentally aware, action-oriented adults.

What is the Envirothon?

The Envirothon is a program for 9th - 12th grade students to learn more about our natural environment. The Envirothon tests the student's knowledge on subjects such as soils, aquatics, forestry, wildlife, and range. Teams work on a natural resource problem on topics that change each year. Please see the Montana Envirothon website for current topic.

When and Where?

The conservation-district-sponsored Envirothon is held annually in Lewistown, Montana. Five-member teams are invited to compete at the Montana State Envirothon Competition. The state champion then represents Montana at the North American Envirothon Competition.

An opportunity to learn from professional resource managers!
